Environmental policy

Ultrawave Ltd recognises the importance of global environmental protection. It is committed to meeting this challenge and continues to work towards the implementation of sound environmental standards and practices.

Ultrawave will ensure:

- Compliance with environmental law and regulations.
- Our operations are conducted in a manner which respects the quality of the environment and prevents pollution.
- Effective procedures and equipment for environmental protection are maintained, consistent with available technology.
- Realistic objectives are set to achieve continual improvement of environmental performance.
- Cooperation, wherever possible, with national and local governments and regulators in analysing environmental issues, investigating problems and developing cost-effective, scientifically-based environmental standards.
- We work toward reducing the burden on the environment, toward minimizing associated risks and toward lowering the use of energy and resources, at or above the legal requirements
- We take appropriate precautions to avoid environmental hazards and to prevent damage to the environment
- We assess and incorporate the potential impact on the environment in product and process planning at the earliest possible stage

Furthermore Ultrawave:

- Will communicate with and ensure staff understand their role in minimizing the environmental impact of their activities
- Require each employee to act in an environmentally responsible manner.
